Copyright Ownership Information

The Toho Journal of Medicine (“the Journal”) is an electronic journal dedicated to wide dissemination of articles with cutting-edge information. To maintain legal control over reproduction rights, prevent unauthorized reproduction of articles, and protect the copyrights of articles published in the Journal, the Medical Society of Toho University (“the Society”) must possess full ownership of all copyrights associated with articles in the Journal. For this purpose, the authors of all articles published in the Journal accept the transfer of all copyrights to the Society.

The copyrights retained by the Society extend principally to the following:

1. all reproduction rights (all rights related to printed or mechanical copying, and all other general publication rights);
2. all translation rights;
3. all adaptation rights (including but not limited to rights to summaries and edited versions of the Journal’s published articles); and
4. the right to permit third parties to reproduce, adapt, or quote articles published in the Journal for commercial purposes.

The authors of manuscripts submitted to the Journal thereby accept to transfer all copyrights to the Journal if their manuscript is accepted for publication, and the Journal will then be responsible for the maintenance and use of these rights. To this end, the Society will execute the following administrative functions:

1. It will evaluate third-party requests for the reproduction, translation, summarization, and quotation of any of the Journal’s published articles and, after due deliberation, will respond to these requests, either allowing or forbidding these third parties to proceed.
2. It will issue warnings to any publication, organization, or person who uses the Journal’s published articles in a way similar to those above, without written permission from the Society. In the event such a third party’s copyright infringement is perceived to be willful and/or malicious, the Society will undertake against this third party such legal procedures it deems necessary to protect its copyright ownership.
3. In the event the Society permits the reproduction, translation, or other use by another publication of one of the articles published in the Journal, it will attempt first to receive the approval of the authors of the article.

In every case, the authors will of course retain their rights as authors of the article (such rights as cannot be transferred to any publication or other third party) as part of their own personal rights. As a result, after authors of an article transfer their copyrights to the Society, no other person will be allowed to falsely claim authorship of the article, change its title, meaningfully alter its content, or change its wording.

4. The authors accept transfer of the copyrights described above to the Society at no cost. The Society will retain and use such revenues as it will obtain from the permission to third parties for the reproduction, etc., of its articles, in order to cover the administrative costs involved.
5. The author(s) of articles published in the Journal retain all rights to use, present, translate, or summarize their articles and the content of these articles, even after publication in the Journal. The above rights do not include the right to submit the same article (or a different version of the same article) for publication in a journal or publication other than the Toho Journal of Medicine.
